CANCER SERVICE NEXT TO FACE CUTS

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A CANCER outreach service which provides help and support to patients and families living in Harlow is set to become the latest victim of cutbacks, the Star can reveal.

NHS West Essex is poised to lay off three members of staff at the Cancer Information Service in Addison House while scaling back the scope of its work in the community.

This currently includes home visits to discuss patients' concerns in private and the provision of respite support for carers.

It remains unclear what impact the planned changes will have on the service's extensive network of volunteers, who provide practical help with shopping, gardening and transport to and from hospital.

A PCT spokesman said the service would be "refocused" on the provision of health information.

"The Cancer Information Service currently offers a service beyond the scope of what the NHS would normally provide," he said. "It is proposed that the service is reduced by three staff - amounting to the equivalent of two full time employees - with a shift in focus away from support that is not directly health-related."

"It is proposed that this service will be delivered by a senior nurse and a supporting administrator and will signpost and help to navigate people with cancer, and their families and carers, through complex care pathways where appropriate."

He added that consultation with staff over possible redundancies started on Friday.

Council calls talks to discuss clinic closure

URGENT talks are being held to discuss possible alternatives to the Harlow One Stop Shop clinic for young people which closed this week.

The health suite at Occasio House, which provided a broad range of support services for 13-25 year-olds including a sexual health clinic, was axed by NHS West Essex due to funding and accommodation "issues".

But there are fears the closure could lead to a rise in sexually-transmitted infections and teenage pregnancies in the town.

Since the news was first broken by the Star, community leaders have criticised the PCT for failing to consult about the decision and for giving just three weeks

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

notice of the closure.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said he could not understand the reasons for the closure because the health trust had received an extra £12m in funding this year.

Joel Charles, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, confirmed the authority has held an urgent meeting to "discuss options".

"As the community leader the council brokered an urgent meeting between several organisations to discuss options for the future of the health suite in Occasio House which is now closed," he said.

"The council's chief executive has also written to the NHS West Essex urging that the services are kept going to give more time for these discussions to identify a way forwards."

Cllr Charles added: "We also hope that any proposals to shut or change any other NHS West Essex services are subject to proactive communication to enable partners to work together to prevent an occurrence of the situation that Harlow young people currently find themselves."

Meanwhile, Mr Halfon has started an online petition - www.petitionbuzz.com/petitions/saveoccasiohouse - against the closure which he said he hoped would put pressure on the trust.

"It is important that we show the strength of popular feeling about this in Harlow and increase pressure on the PCT to change their minds. That's why I have started an online petition for local residents to show their support."

Dr Rob Gerlis, director of commissioning, said: "NHS West Essex continues to commission sexual health services for young people in Harlow. In fact, there has been considerable investment in these services over the last three to four years."

"The One Stop Shop accommodation is no longer available to the NHS. This was provided by a partnership with Essex County Council, Connexions and Harlow District Council in which the councils have ceased to participate."

"We are listening to the views of local people and will take these and any petitions on board as part of our close monitoring of local services over the next couple of months."

Cancer service next in line for cutbacks

One of the service's volunteers, who asked to remain anonymous, said he was concerned patients would be "left out in the cold" as a result of the cuts.

"The PCT is trying to make these callous cutbacks very discreetly, but the fact is they will have a huge impact on patients and their families who rely on this service for advice and support," he said.

"Although there are lots of volunteers willing to help out as best we can, we don't have the training or expertise the nurses here have. If they go the service might as well fold."

Harlow MP Rob Halfon, who has already written to Health Secretary Andrew Lansley to complain about NHS West Essex's handling of the closure of the Harlow One Stop Shop, said he was shocked by the PCT's latest plans.

"What I can't understand is why this seems to be happening without any consultation with the users of this fantastic service or its dedicated staff," he said. "I am very concerned and have contacted the PCT asking for further information about it."

Happiness? It's all down to teamwork

FROM blind date to courting couple to celebrating 60 years of marriage, Dennis and Katrina Bessent have found that teamwork is the way to achieve happiness. Their love story started 62 years ago at the Royal dance hall in Tottenham when one of Katrina's friends decided to set them up.

"I remember the first time we met he was very friendly," said Mrs Bessent (81), "and that's the way it went. We've been together ever since!" They were married on August 4, 1951 and moved to Harlow two years later where they raised their family. The couple, of The Dashes, have five children, 20 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. According to Mr Bessent (83), the secret behind the couple's success is simple. "We've worked together," he said.

"Today the youngsters have a row and they go back to their mum and dad."

Mrs Bessent added: "We've had a few arguments and we've had ups and downs. Some years were good and some were not, but you've got to work at marriage and that's what we did."

The couple will be celebrating their diamond anniversary with family and friends at The Green Man pub in Old Harlow on Saturday.

University halts Libya libel case against MP

THE university which threatened legal action against Harlow MP Robert Halfon after he criticised its commercial links with the Libyan government has dropped its libel case.

Liverpool John Moores University objected to comments in Mr Halfon's blog and on YouTube in which he condemned the university for accepting funds from the Gaddafi regime.

Mr Halfon, who has always defended the claim which he said he discovered after submitting 100 Freedom of Information requests to British universities asking for details of all their funding, initially removed the comments and video.

However, the university continued to seek damages and a public apology over the comments until last week when its lawyers confirmed it would no longer be taking action.

Mr Halfon told the Star it was a victory for freedom of speech.

"I am very pleased they have dropped the action," he said. "I have never believed I did anything wrong and think it is a case of freedom of speech triumphing."

Dad's fight for equality rights

A FATHER championing the cause of equal rights for parents over their children is calling on more dads to join his support group.

Neil Colley (27), of Bishopsfield, Harlow, started DAD – Dads Against Discrimination – just two weeks ago but already more than 250 people have signed up for the group on his Facebook page.

Father-of-one Neil, pictured above right with his brother Barry, said he set up the group so parents who feel they are being unfairly shut out of their children's lives following a break-up can share their stories, support each other and fight for equal rights.

"Although the group is centred round issues for fathers, it is also open to any mothers suffering similar difficulties with child access," he explained.

"I have always believed that fathers particularly should have more rights regarding their children. "More often than not when a relationship breaks down the child automatically stays with the mother. If she then doesn't want the father to see the child she can make it very difficult for him and that isn't fair. "The fact is it takes two to make a

vicky.lane@hertssexnews.co.uk child and assuming they are both good parents then they should both have equal responsibility and equal rights towards that child their entire lives – whether or not they remain together as a couple."

Neil is currently developing a website for the group and plans to set up petitions around the town.

"This isn't about naming and shaming ex-partners, it is about maintaining children's welfare," he said.

"When a relationship breaks up it should be done with as minimal disruption as possible to the children and both parents should have the right to continue playing an active role.

"I hope that one day there is a law that stops mums and dads preventing their ex-partners from having access to their children without just cause.

"If we all unite together then hopefully we can one day get the system changed for both the good of the parent and, most importantly, for the good of the child."

For more information about DAD, email Neil at neilcolley84@gmail.com or visit www.daddadsagainstdiscrimination.co.uk.

Cash boost for youth support

A COUNSELLING programme for primary school children will be coming to Harlow next term after the charity running the initiative was awarded a £1,500 grant. The Young Concern Trust, which provides therapeutic support services, received the donation from the BAA Stansted Community Fund to help fund their new Key Stage 2 support programme.

Offering a range of services including one-to-one counselling and group-work, the scheme aims to address a range of issues relevant to everyday life. YCT director Robert Locke, said: "All of us really appreciate the support that the Stansted Community Fund has given us through this donation which will enable us to help fund resources to support our new work with primary school children in Harlow."

A call to arms

WITH stocks of blood coming under pressure during the summer months, an appeal has gone out for more donors to come forward.

Two sessions will be held at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way, Harlow – the first on Sunday, August 14 from 10am-12.30pm and 2-3.45pm, and the second the following Thursday from 2-3.45pm and 5-7.45pm.

To book an appointment, call the donor line on 0300 123 23 23 or visit www.blood.co.uk.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the weekly St Clare Hospice lottery draw on Friday, July 29 is ticket holder 158545, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 818151, who also lives in Harlow.

Generous train passengers dig deep to give six-year-old Toby a chance to walk

A SUPERVISOR at Harlow Town station has praised passengers' generosity after they donated £5,000 towards a life-changing operation for his seriously ill grandson.

Bob Urch (52) said he was "overwhelmed" by the response to the campaign he set up in February to raise enough money to fly six-year-old Toby Hawkridge, pictured right, to America for pioneering treatment which could enable him to walk.

The youngster was born with Spastic Diplegia, a form of cerebral palsy which blocks the signals his brain sends to his legs. It has left him unable to walk without the use of significant aids.

The only operation that could help him is not currently performed in the UK, meaning the youngster must travel from his home in Hemel Hempstead to the Saint Louis Children's Hospital in the USA.

The four-hour procedure, which has been scheduled for September 30, is likely to cost around £50,000.

Bob and the rest of Toby's family now need one final push to hit their target after collecting £43,000 in less than six months through various fundraising events.

Bob, who lives in Cheshunt, told the Star: "Thanks to the amazing generosity of people in Harlow we're close to achieving our target of £50,000. It's absolutely fantastic.

"I can't wait to see Toby walk. He's such a happy child but he wants to be able to run, kick a ball and climb a tree like the other kids.

"Although he's not from Harlow, the people here have shown us so much support. It just shows what a wonderful nation we really are."

To find out more about forthcoming fundraising events or to make a donation, log on to the website at www.tobysdream.co.uk.

Bowling alley reopens after £250k refurb

TEN-pin kings can strike it lucky at Harlow's new bowling complex which reopened this week after a £250,000 refurbishment.

The Harlow Bowl, in Terminus Street, is now an American diner-themed venue aimed at all the family.

Open seven days a week, the complex has 14 fully air conditioned lanes, an arcade, three pool tables and wall-to-wall 3D TVs where sports fans can watch live games. There is also a café restaurant and a fully licensed bar.

"As soon as people walk in through the door and see the new venue they are amazed," said general manager Pauline Hanlon. "It really has the wow factor."

"The whole place has been transformed into an extremely classy and comfortable venue which offers something for everybody.

"Whether you are a family wanting to bowl, or an individual who fancies a bite to eat and some sport on the telly we can provide that for you."

The opening ceremony was performed by Harlow Council chairman Michael Garnett, who then tried his hand at a game.

Waste plan still a cause of concern

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS' fears over proposals to site a new waste transfer station in Harlow have still to be allayed, it was claimed this week.

Essex County Council has submitted a planning application for the waste plant at the Templefields industrial estate – less than 250 metres away from a housing estate and primary school.

If approved, the plant will handle thousands of tonnes of household and garden waste from Harlow and Epping annually, requiring up to 100 extra collection vehicles to pass through the town every week.

But residents and business owners say they are worried it would devalue their properties and increase the problems of noise, traffic, pollution and vermin in the area.

This week Harlow MP Robert Halfon said there are still "major questions" that must be answered before the plant can go ahead.

Speaking after meeting with residents and officials to discuss the proposals, Mr Halfon said he was still concerned about the plan.

"Though it is true that the site itself, as it is vacuum sealed, is unlikely to cause smells and pollution, the situation with the numerous trucks transporting the waste is much less clear," he told the Star.

"The problem is that Edinburgh Way is gridlocked as it is. Dozens of lorries a day will be travelling to and from the M11, adding to the already problematic issue of having just one entry and exit into the town."

"Additionally, the site if built, will have an inevitable impact on local businesses and is very close to Tany's Dell School where children will be subject to the noise of the lorries and possible pollution from diesel."

Insisting there were still major questions to be answered, he added: "I accept there is pressure to put less waste into landfill and to boost recycling, but is this waste transfer site in the right place? That is the question local people are now asking."

"It is vital these issues are addressed before the plans go through."

A county council spokesman said the plans were currently available for viewing on its website where they will remain for three weeks for further consultation to take place.

Police get help to point the finger at suspects

POLICE officers in Essex will now be able to check an individual's identity within two minutes thanks to new mobile fingerprinting devices.

The force has been given 45 of the Bluecheck II devices by the National Policing Improvement Agency which allow officers to scan a person's fingerprints and check them against the national fingerprint database.

So far 530 officers, including those based at Stansted Airport and the county's ports, have been trained to use the gadgets.

When a fingerprint is scanned it is checked against the national fingerprint database which contains fingerprints taken from people arrested in England, Scotland and Wales for recordable offences.

The gadgets are already in use by other forces in the country including Kent, Hertfordshire, the Met, Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire.

Fingerprints taken on devices are not retained after a search.

Sue Harrison, Assistant Chief Constable of Essex Police, said: "Using these devices will allow officers to identify people at the roadside, cutting down on the time taken within police stations to establish someone's identity."

"It will allow us to prove who someone is despite their efforts to conceal their true identity. This technology will have a huge benefit to fighting crime and keeping the streets of Essex safe for everyone."

Tom McArthur, director of operations for the NPJA, said: "Identification is crucial to police investigations and giving officers the ability to do this on-the-spot within minutes is giving them more time to spend working in their communities, helping to fight crime, bringing more offenders to justice and better protecting the public."

MP in top 10 of Commons tweeters

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon is one of the most prolific 'Tweeters' among MPs, a survey has revealed.

Mr Halfon was eighth in a league table compiled by Westminster Public Affairs, with 6,354 entries on the social networking website Twitter.

He was one of three Conservative MPs in the top 10 but has a long way to go to catch up with Kerry McCarthy, who represents Bristol East for Labour. She has 27,547 tweets to her name.

Woodland keeps on flying the flag

PICTURESQUE Parndon Wood Nature Reserve has been named as one of the best kept green spaces in the country for the third year running.

The Harlow beauty spot was awarded a Green Flag as proof that it is well maintained, well managed and offers visitors excellent facilities.

It is one of more than 1,200 parks and green spaces to receive a Green Flag or Community Award this year.

Tony Hall, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for environment, said: "I am delighted that one of the town's much-loved open spaces has been recognised in this way for the third year running."

"This is a very prestigious accolade. Every year the inspection gets harder and nature reserves have to meet very high standards for biodiversity and wildlife as opposed to open parks which score more on the quality of grass maintenance and aesthetics.

"We work hard to maintain the town's open spaces and winning this award means Parndon Wood Nature Reserve is one of the best kept parks in the country. It's a great place to enjoy some peace, tranquility and relaxation."

"To be awarded a Green Flag for the third year running is also testament to the hard work of council officers and the many local volunteers who help maintain the reserve."

Phil Barton, chairman of the Green Flag Plus Partnership, said: "I would like to congratulate this year's winners, who have worked hard throughout the year to keep their parks and green spaces at a high standard and ensure they are pleasant and enjoyable spaces for the whole community."

"In these challenging financial times it is heartening that the number of Green Flag awards continue to grow. As the value of green space and the role it plays in our communities strengthens, we must ensure these high standards remain."

All the award-winning sites now have the chance to receive a People's Choice award from the Green Flag Plus Partnership, voted for by the public. To register a vote for Parndon Wood, visit www.keepbritaintidy.org/GreenFlag.

Petitioners demand return of bus service

ANGRY pensioners have banded together to urge a bus company to rethink its decision to change the route of a popular service which they claim has taken away their independence.

The group, who live in the Three Horseshoes area of Harlow, say they relied on the number seven bus to Old Harlow to visit shops, medical and dental surgeries.

However, since Arriva re-routed the bus last month it no longer calls at their local bus stop. As a result, they claim they now have to make the journey using two buses – the number 505 to the town centre and then the number seven to Old Harlow – which can take over an hour.

"The journey to Old Harlow on the number seven bus used to take 25 minutes without fail," said 83-year-old Doris Partridge, who has sent a 97-signature petition to the bus company calling for a U-turn.

"A lot of us older people relied on

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

that service to attend important appointments and do our weekly shop.

"We are very upset with the new 505 replacement. It is unreliable, infrequent and because it comes from Chingford it is often full-up by the time it reaches us."

Mrs Partridge, of Jerounds, said many of her friends and acquaintances, some of whom suffer with various medical ailments, have now stopped travelling to Old Harlow because of their frustrations with the service.

"There are a lot of people I don't see anymore. They have just given up because it is too difficult for them to get to Old Harlow," she said.

"It seems extremely unfair. No doubt the people who decided on the change have the luxury of a car, but they should remember that many of us rely on public transport to continue living independently."

She added: "I just hope that when Arriva see how many people are unhappy about the change that they will reconsider the decision."

Bob Dorr, Arriva's regional director for network, said that there were no plans to reinstate the service.

"Whilst we will always listen to our customers comments we will be unable to reinstate the old number seven route any time soon," he told the Star.

"We recognise that changes will not always suit everyone but sometimes they are necessary to balance the books and provide the best value for money for our customers."

He added: "We have made sure the changes made has not made it impossible for people to get all the way through to Old Harlow and a huge amount of investment has ensured our vehicles are accessible for everyone, including those with limited mobility."

Film stars out in force at drama group's fun walk

MEMBERS of a performing arts group dressed up as their favourite film characters for a sponsored walk to raise money for future productions.

Young performers from Razed Roof were joined by family and friends for the five-mile fun walk around the Mark Hall Sports Centre's athletics track.

Their efforts raised an impressive £1,274. Volunteer support worker Barbara Lazarus said: "We made the walk as fun as possible, challenging participants to collect various objects on their way round and handing out a prize at the end to the person who had collected the most."

Razed Roof, which is based at The Playhouse, is an inclusive drama group for people with specific learning disabilities and youngsters from mainstream education.

It is currently hoping to win a £2,000 National Lottery grant after its Inclusion Through Practice project made it through to the final of the 2011 National Lottery Awards.

Launderette woman guilty of card fraud

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A LAUNDERETTE worker who befriended an elderly customer and then used his bank card to order thousands of pounds worth of goods on the internet and pay for a holiday must wait to hear her fate.

Susan Clinton (46), of Felmongers, Harlow, appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court where she pleaded guilty to four offences of fraud committed between January 30 and March 31 of this year.

The court was told one the frauds involved a number of purchases from the online retailer Amazon for which Clinton used the NatWest bank card belonging to Sidney Duffy.

She further admitted three similar offences in relation to travel insurance from Asda, a holiday to Turkey from First Choice and groceries from Asda.

Two other similar charges relating to Sky Digital and Brighton plc were dropped after they were denied by the defendant.

The court was told Mr Duffy was a customer at the launderette where Clinton worked. He had been unwell and so she befriended him, gaining access to his card and pin number after which she carried out the illegal transactions.

The purchases from Amazon were said to total £5,500 while a further £2,200 was spent paying for the holiday.

Releasing her on bail while reports are prepared, judge Anthony Goldstraub told Clinton she would have to return to court on August 22 when she will be sentenced.

However, he told her he did not intend to impose a custodial sentence. "I would like to find some way of bringing home to this lady that frauds of this kind will not be tolerated," he said.

HOUSE GUEST:
Robert Halfon with intern Annie Collyer

Work experience takes Annie to the Houses of Parliament

HARLOW teenager Annie Collyer may have only just turned 15 but she has already walked the corridors of power after spending a week's work experience at Harlow MP Robert Halfon's office at the House of Commons.

Although she was the Tory backbencher's youngest-ever intern, Annie made a good impression on the MP.

"She was only here for a few days but she was absolutely fantastic," he told the Star.

"She was only 14 but she seemed like she was 20. She was really hardworking and very interested in meeting everyone and seeing the Houses of Parliament."

During her four-day placement Annie, who attends school in Bishop's Stortford, gave tours of the Houses of Parliament, watched a debate in the chamber and even delivered whisky to the office of Prime Minister David Cameron's office!

Annie's mother Karen (46), of Katherine's, Harlow, said her daughter had relished the opportunity.

"I think it was one of the best experiences that a child could ever have," she said.

"She was absolutely ecstatic and very excited about the people she met and the experiences she had."

"It is very unusual for someone that young to get this kind of opportunity."

Security warning after increase in burglaries

POLICE have urged Harlow residents to take extra care in securing their homes after a recent rise in the number of burglaries.

With a reported increase in break-ins across the whole of West Essex, crime prevention teams said that many of the most recent incidents could have been prevented if doors and windows had been locked properly.

Among items stolen from properties in Harlow are jewellery, handbags, wallets, purse and cash. According to police, in most cases entry had been gained by intruders forcing insecurely locked doors or rear windows.

Crime reduction officer Graham Anthony said: "We are urging householders to take greater care in securing their homes, especially when going out or retiring to bed.

"Securing your premises properly will help you to avoid the upset of becoming a burglary victim and the inconvenience of having to deal with the losses."

He advised residents to place their car keys in a safe place, shut and secure all ground floor windows and make sure that UPVC doors are locked properly by pulling the handle up while turning the key.

And he warned there could be more misery for homeowners whose properties are burgled – insurers may refuse to pay out if they find doors and windows were not properly locked.

Trio steal man's phone

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a man was robbed near Harlow town centre.

The incident happened at around 1am on Monday, July 18 as the victim walked along a footpath by the side of the Matalan store in the Water Gardens.

He was approached by three men – one white and two black – who forced him to hand over his mobile phone and wallet.

The white man was wearing a dark coloured bobble hat and a blue or black hooded top. One of the black men was wearing a dark tracksuit while the other had on a hooded top with a T-shirt pulled up to cover part of his face.

Anyone with any information about the incident should contact PC Garry Bray at Harlow police station on 0300 333 4444.

Health clinic has won national recognition

SIR, I was amazed to read the comments in last week's story about the closure of Harlow One Stop Shop from Dr Rob Gerlis and from the reader, Kara.

As a past member of the stakeholder group which helped to start the Young Persons Information Centre and subsequently the health suite, I should point out that this facility was not provided on a whim but on the basis of detailed national research carried out in the late 1990s.

This research indicated that many young people, particularly young men, found it difficult to attend GP practices or family planning clinics to discuss sensitive matters such as sexual health and contraception. This is born out by the sheer evidence of the local statistics where, monthly, 700-800 young people choose not to go to their GP or the FP clinic.

Where are the "other similar services" that match what young people want? Also, this is not a "new standalone service" but one that has been operating for some 10 years and was praised and supported by the Harlow PCT before its demise. It also won national recognition as an example of good practice.

I would never question the skills and abilities of the medical profession but this example of a doctor moving into the rest of the world and making such judgements does not bode well for the future. Even on a monetary basis it cannot be the case that with all the financial and in-kind support that the centre has received, Dr Gerlis can cost and justify another service where the patients do not support it or want to attend it.

In my professional career I worked with and for young people and so do many of the practitioners who work in Occasio House and with other agencies. Along with the young people who expressed a need for such a facility at a youth conference in 1997 and all the professional people who know more about their needs than Dr Gerlis, I appeal for commonsense to prevail.

Derek Fenny
Penshurst, Harlow

I'll support our MP to prevent closure

SIR, I am sorry that councillor Russell Perrin thinks the Labour Party is trying to score political points over the closure of the health clinic at Occasio House (Letters, July 28).

Harlow Labour Party is strongly opposed to the closure of this essential service for young people. I have e-mailed Robert Halfon to express my support and said that I wish to be informed of any petition or demonstration he may organise.

I was a volunteer at the first session of the original clinic for the young and unmarried opened by Leah Manning in the late 1960s. That could only offer basic contraceptive advice, but the Harlow One

Don't blame trust board for having to cut beds and jobs

SIR, Tony Durcan lays the blame for 250 job cuts and 60 bed closures at Princess Alexandra Hospital firmly with the hospital's trust board (Letters, July 21). In reality the latest cuts at PAH are entirely due to the actions of the current Coalition and last Labour governments.

The loss to the PAH budget of £10m from the primary care trusts for secondary care is mainly due to the Care Closer to the Home project, which resulted from the last Labour government's 2006 White Paper Our Health, Our Care, Our Say. Another £7m cut is directly attributable to the current Government's so-called efficiency savings that are part of the national deficit reduction programme that will see £4bn cut annually from the NHS budget.

Harlow TUC views Care Closer to the Home as both a blessing and a curse. The blessing is providing care at more convenient places for patients, but the curse is the freeing up of town centre land for asset-stripping purposes.

We fear that general nursing care will be compromised, like it was with mental health's Care in the Community programme, in order to make a fast buck from land speculation.

The other key factor in the NHS budget is Labour's Private Finance Initiative hospital building programme, which helped to deliver 103 much-needed new hospitals. The costs to the taxpayer for the 25-30 year leases is expected to be more than £65bn over their lifetime, yet the true building costs were £11bn.

John Lister, of London Health Emergency, cited one example of a foundation trust being charged £333 for the change of a light switch by its PFI operator. In the case of PAH, the trust board rather sensibly avoided PFI contracts.

Representatives from Harlow Against the Cuts and Harlow TUC met with PAH chief executive Melanie Walker and director of delivery Darren Leech last month. From our discussions it was obvious that Ms Walker, a former nurse, had been forced to make cuts due to loss of external funding.

We were given assurances that frontline staff would be protected and that, with the co-operation of the hospital unions, job losses would be managed fairly. Whilst 250 posts are to go, Ms Walker assured us that the number of people to be affected are likely to be less than 100.

The PAH trust's willingness to meet and engage with community representatives is something which should be applauded, but will this continue if the hospital achieves foundation trust status?

Our real concern is that those responsible for wrecking the economy are not the ones making the sacrifice. We advocate the introduction of taxes on financial transactions and chasing corporate tax evasion and avoidance to clear the national deficit.

HTUC and HATC understand that in any large organisation there are employees who are not fully occupied, but we do not believe that making them redundant and paying them benefits is the answer. Efficiency savings should be reinvested into services by better levels of care, increased range of services and improved availability.

Only when the profit hungry private enterprises are removed from the NHS and the internal market disbanded will the NHS be able to plan care for our citizens on a universal national basis.

The blame for cuts in hospital jobs and beds lies firmly with Conservative, Labour and Coalition governments, not the hospital trust boards.

David Forman, secretary, Harlow Against The Cuts
Holmes Meadow, Harlow

SIR, "We intend to cut costs by shedding around 250 posts and closing about 60 beds" and "We are determined to protect frontline services." How can anybody make sense of those two sentences from PAH Trust chief executive Melanie Walker?

Hospital beds are frontline services. There aren't 60 empty beds in Princess Alexandra Hospital that can be dispensed with.

Twice in the past year I have been treated in PAH for life-threatening conditions and I am grateful to the staff who saved my life. But on both occasions during the course of my stay I had to move wards because it was necessary to shuffle patients around to make the best use of the beds that are there.

If there's no room in a specialist ward, patients are likely to be treated in a general ward until a vacancy comes up. When a patient is discharged they will rapidly be replaced by another who has been waiting elsewhere in the hospital.

Cutting beds is a direct cut to frontline services - the kind of services which Ms Walker claims to be protecting.

It is the kind of cut which David Cameron and Nick Clegg promised would not happen if they were elected.

Kevin McGrath, Harlow

POST: Star Letters, 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex CM20 1JW EMAIL: star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Stop Shop can do so much more.

Even in this more enlightened age, problems such as STIs and male impotence are still taboo and difficult even for adults to seek advice about. Star reader Kara says they could go to the family planning centre - which is at Addison House not Adams House as she says - but I do not think they could possibly cope with the extra workload and certainly not all the other problems which worry young people.

The clinic at Occasio House is situated where visitors can go without risk of being seen by family or friends. The morning after pill for example can be obtained from a pharmacy but how embarrassing to ask for it in front of a shop full of customers

I hope Mr Halfon is successful in his attempt to keep this vital service and I will do anything I can to support him.

Edna Stevens (chair, Harlow Labour Party)
Fullers Mead, Harlow

Threat to charities

SIR, What planet is Conservative councillor Simon Carter on? (Letters, July 21). Is the pot calling the kettle black?

David Cameron states in the press that the Conservatives are going to sell off the NHS to private investors, cut vast numbers of frontline police, cut pensions by raising the retirement age and cut grants to local councils, thereby attacking public services.

Councillor Carter also states that charities should find funding elsewhere and not expect the council to help with core funding. Everyone knows CAB, Young Concern and the GPCA are large charities with very high profiles. It is so much easier for them to attract funding from many other sources, but what of the very small charities that most people have not heard of?

They may be small but do a wonderful job. It is so much harder for them to access funding and so many fold because they run out of money. Surely it should be down to the local authority to help such organisations in some small way to stay afloat and continue to give their much-needed support to the community.

I am apolitical and not biased, so come on Conservatives - stop attacking all we believe in and make sure the NHS and our countless small charities continue to be the envy of the world.

Mr Carter also states it is the Conservatives who are working better and smarter, delivering better services and freeing council tax as well as providing leadership through these challenging times. I don't think so.

Mick Granger, (chair, Harlow Chocolate Run)
Jerounds, Harlow.

Please return DVD

SIR, It has come to my notice that someone enjoyed the DVD of our recent production of Cinderella so much that they stole the DVD player from the foyer of The Playhouse, complete with the Harlow Ballet DVD inside it.

If they would like to return the player to The Playhouse I will, in exchange, be happy to provide them with a brand new copy of the DVD in a beautiful presentation box and I will even throw in a copy of the programme - all free of charge!

Equally, if any Star readers know who took the DVD player will you please urge them to take advantage of this generous offer so that visitors to The Playhouse can continue to enjoy the excellent work of Harlow companies like The Alberni Quartet, Raised Roof and, of course, Harlow Ballet Association in the future.

Michael Branwell, artistic director
Harlow Ballet Association

A waste of money

SIR, Today I received a small plastic folder through my letterbox which contained various pamphlets and leaflets bearing the Essex County Council logo.

The documents are all aimed at getting people to cycle or take the bus, no doubt in a bid to ease Harlow's chronic transport congestion problems.

I assume that one of these folders has been delivered to every household in the town at some colossal cost to the taxpayer. The vast majority will simply drop these documents in the bin, although they may retain the handy folder.

Surely the council could have just paid for a two-page spread in the Star to get this public transport message across at a fraction of the cost.

Surprise find in a wardrobe

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT'S another case of 'lost and found' this week.

A few weeks after Nostalgia featured a set of unidentified photos discovered in the back of a cabinet, we have received a second request to try to reunite some property with its rightful owner.

The latest appeal comes from former Star deputy editor Bridget McAlpine, who was surprised to find a 1974 Brunel University graduation certificate hiding in one of her wardrobes!

"I've lived in my house at Vicarage Wood for more than 30 years but I've only recently discovered this paperwork belonging to a former resident," she explained.

"I was sorting through a built-in wardrobe and suddenly a small cardboard tube popped out from a recess just behind the frame.

"It was a real surprise because the wardrobe has been emptied out and tidied on numerous occasions over the years and this tube has never appeared before.

"It contained a graduation certificate from Brunel University and three photocopies reading 'Eric Alfred John Secretan was admitted to the degree of Master of Technology in Metallurgical Quality Control at a congregation on April 2, 1974'. It is signed by the vice-chancellor and the academic registrar."

Bridget believes the Secretans were the first family to live in her house, moving in when it was first built around 1953 and staying for more than 20 years before relocating to another part of Harlow.

"We arrived in 1980, coming after a family called Clements who, coincidentally, were related to the Secretans," she said.

"Even more coincidentally, the architect who drew up the plans for my house extension about 16 years ago was also related to the Secretans!"

Despite not being able to find the Secretan name in the local phone book, Bridget is hoping someone connected to the family still lives in the town.

"I've no idea if any of the Secretan family themselves are still in Harlow but I would love to be able to pass this graduation certificate on to Eric or one of his relatives," she added.

Do you know or have links with the Secretan family? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Regal Cinema

Opening night at town's new picture palace

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

I have been a local resident for a long time and I was a little disappointed when I heard that the Regal Cinema was to be closed.

However, I was very pleased to hear that the cinema was to be reopened and I was very happy to see the opening night on August 1952.

Our recent piece about Harlow's Regal Cinema, above, has stirred the memories of more Star readers. Alan Shadbolt wrote in with his recollections of many a happy trip to the popular venue after it was opened by British film star Diane Hart in August 1952.

"I remember my first visit was with my father," said Alan. "He took me to an old caravan which had been converted into a workmen's café to start with and then to the cinema, but I can't remember the name of the film.

"My next visit was with my friend Eddie on a double date. He was 11 and I was 10 and his date was named June and mine was Rosemary.

"We both then became members of the Saturday Morning Children's Cinema Committee – or unpaid ushers and peacekeepers – but 'Uncle Peter', the manager, always let us in for free to any film we wanted to see."

Another reader who wrote in was Sharon McCartney, who said her mother – Doreen Taylor – started working at the cinema a couple of years after it first opened.

"My mum, who has sadly passed away, worked at the cinema between 1954 and 1960 as an usherette," she recalled. "My dad, Henry Taylor, worked in the Charles & Reeds Printers factory opposite the cinema and on busy days at the cinema he would go and help mum out."

Sharon added: "To this day my dad says my mum had fond memories of working at the cinema. It was a job she loved."

25 years ago

Floating chefs and Vikings invaded the Moorhen boating lake for Harlow Council's annual playscheme raft race. Table tennis bats and frying pans replaced traditional paddles on the rafts, which were all made by children. The winning raft was entered by the Norman Booth Recreation Centre playscheme.

Harlow's Marks & Spencer store has gone up in the world with the opening of its first floor sales area. The store has been expanded, creating more than 20 new jobs. M&S has spent £450m on modernising stores throughout the country.

There were three cheers for the Superkids during the quest for the Stewards Pool Superkid of 1986. Youngsters aged 8-14 showed off their swimming, running, jumping and fitness skills as well as their brain power in the race for first prize.

Animal charity the RSPCA has appealed for the owner of 'Jack the rook' to come forward and collect the lost bird. RSPCA officer James Hurrocks admitted Jack was perhaps not the most beautiful bird but added: "Someone loves him, but I don't quite know who!"

If you see a jellyfish, look but don't touch

BRITAIN'S coastal regions should brace themselves for the arrival of swarms of jellyfish this summer, experts have warned.

Although it is not unusual to find jellyfish in British waters, the sheer number heading for the coastline has prompted researchers at the Marine Conservation Society to issue the warning to beachgoers.

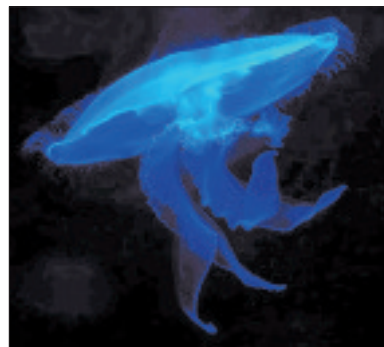

It comes just weeks after a nuclear power station in Scotland was forced to close for two days after hoardes of moon jellyfish blocked pipes sucking in sea water to cool the reactors.

Biodiversity programme manager Peter Richardson told reporters: "These increases have been linked to factors such as pollution, over-fishing and possibly climate change.

"We should consider jellyfish populations as important indicators of the state of our seas."

Among the most common types found in British waters are the moon jellyfish, pictured, the compass, the blue, the barrel and the lion's mane.

Apart from the more dangerous lion's mane, most will only give humans a mild sting but beachgoers are nevertheless being advised to "look but not touch".

Their arrival on British shores has also led to increased sightings of the endangered leatherback turtle — a species normally found in more tropical climes.

Jellyfish are the main food source of the giant turtle, whose numbers have dwindled in recent decades.

Huge hole that nearly swallowed gran's bed!

A WOMAN in South America is lucky to be alive after a huge hole opened up in the floor beneath her bed while was asleep!

Guatemalan grandma Inocenta Hernandez was woken by a loud booming noise and discovered she was teetering just inches above the gaping chasm.

"We thought a home had exploded or there had been a crash on the street," she told reporters.

The sound was actually made by the earth which had collapsed under Mrs Hernandez's bed, creating an almost completely circular hole measuring 80cm across and 12 metres deep.

Sinkholes can occur naturally in parts of the world where there is a large amount of limestone below the ground.

This type of rock reacts with the acid that is found in rain and ultimately results in it dissolving, leading to the formation of underground caves and rivers.

Over time the water collecting in these caves can cause them to collapse suddenly, opening up sinkholes on the surface.

Thrills and skills at urban games

HUNDREDS of thrillseekers headed for the skatepark in Harlow Town Park on Saturday when the town hosted the SX Urban Games for the second year running.

The event, which was held as part of the town's celebrations in the build up to next year's Olympic and Paralympic Games, was a showcase for street sports, with youngsters taking to the ramps and rails to demonstrate their skate, scooter, BMX and mountain bike skills.

Harlow's recently established volleyball club also gave demonstrations of their sport while a Tottenham Hotspur freestyler showed off some fancy footwork and local DJs provided the music.

Joel Charles, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said: "We have a fantastic state-of-the-art skatepark in our town and it is important that we use facilities like this to provide opportunities to introduce young people to new and exciting activities.

"This year's event was part of the countdown to London 2012 where both BMX and mountain biking will be Olympic sports with the mountain bike event being held in Essex at Hadleigh Farm."

New clinic takes tough line against wrinkles

AT YOUR SERVICE:
Andrea Kitchener in one of the laser treatment rooms

A NEW medical-based clinic helping patients to keep the ageing process at bay has opened in Sawbridgeworth.

The Stort Medical Aesthetics and Laser Clinic, in Forelands Place, has been opened by GP and dermatology specialist Dr Prem Kumar to offer clinically-proven, non-surgical cosmetic skin procedures not available on the NHS.

Dr Kumar, who lives in the town, said his team - which also includes a manager, laser technician and three part-time receptionists - advises clients based on their individual needs and treats each patient with sensitivity in a confidential and professional manner.

Treatments include muscle-relaxing injections to reduce lines and wrinkles, injectable fillers, laser hair removal and microdermabrasion to improve skin tone and texture.

WILLIAM MARTIN JUNIOR Pupils went to great lengths after being asked to raise money for the Alzheimer's Society. The team of 38 children from the Tawneys Road school didn't disappoint when they splashed their way to an impressive £1,900 for the Harlow branch of the charity with a sponsored swim. The pupils, who were challenged to swim as many lengths up to 50 as they could, had their efforts rewarded with certificates and trophies. Teacher Sally Butler said: "I am very proud of the children as they all worked really hard and each of them achieved personal bests. "We and the Alzheimer's Society were overjoyed by the amount raised. It is an example of our students' care and commitment in the community."

FIDGETY FINGERS Children were given an early taste of graduation when they donned gowns for their own end-of-preschool celebrations. Families and friends were invited to the Hastingwood nursery's graduation ceremony during which the youngsters took part in a parade and received certificates. They then invited everyone to a special bash they had prepared during the week, with parents kindly agreeing to supply the party food. Nursery owner Jackie Neagle said: "It was a lovely afternoon and the children all had a great time. They will be greatly missed when they go off to big school." During the weeks leading up to the ceremony the children were busy with pirate treasure hunts, biscuit-making and selling raffle tickets to raise £500 for Cancer Research UK.

STEWARDS The next Andy Murrays and Rebecca Adlington have celebrated their sporting achievements during the year at the Parnall Road school's annual sports presentation evening. A total of 78 students were honoured with trophies for their sporting prowess in a range of sports including football, netball, rugby, swimming, cricket, tennis, archery, judo, dance and GCSE/BTEC exam groups. They also received special sports tops sponsored by former pupil Jonathan Hewlett, who is now managing director of Diesel UK. Assistant headteacher and head of PE Simon Preece said: "Success takes courage, courage to act when maybe others don't. "All the winners have stood out from the crowd because of their hard work, their ability to be relied upon and, most importantly, because of their commitment." Mr Preece added: "Particular mention should be made of four pupils for their particular excellence in their sports - Louise Devlin in archery, Adam Pope for judo, Jack Webber in tennis and John Withington in golf. "These are young people to watch out for in forthcoming Olympics!"

Your stars with Patrick Arundell to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
Venus joins the Sun in your sector of pleasures and of romance, and better things can develop in your social and love spheres. Yet try not to be utterly realistic overdo things because your nervous energy can be low, so a few early nights will help. At work, you also really need to concentrate. Someone sly may be only too happy to pick up on an error. Call me now for more news and advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
It's all change, and with Mercury going to face with the dreamy Neptune, and Venus moving into Leo, the trick this week will be to be utterly realistic around all aspects of life. An old worry or anxiety can come up, just at a time when you'll be wanting to show maximum confidence, both professionally and in your social situation. Call now for more advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
A home renovation project can move to the decorative stage, and this is where your natural flair for interior design can shine through. If you're considering moving, examine any property details very carefully indeed. Something can look amazing on paper, but not be so good once you visit. A friend can also seem strangely illusive. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
There can be confusion around your love life, and if you feel that other family members are taking an unwanted interest, you may decide some time out is in order. Whether this is temporary time will tell. Besides which, you may find that work issues consume your energies. A relationship with one influential figure can grow - helpfully. Call for more news and advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
Your ruler Mercury begins a backward journey, and this can lead to some confusion within the family. A generational issue probably won't be solved by hard questioning, but by trying to understand how someone really feels. A job that allows you to express yourself can see you make an impact. Your diplomacy can shine through. Call now for more news and advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Mars moves into your sign, and this will be a welcome change. This will give you more determination to forge ahead with your plans. Yet contracts and travel can be prone to misunderstandings and to glitches. Financially, things are looking up, with the chance to create new sources of income. You can also feel more self confident in love. Call now for more...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Your sense of attractiveness goes up several notches. You'll feel more alluring and this can see admiring looks coming your way. Yet financial matters need careful handling. What you are told, may not represent the absolute facts, so you would be wise to double-check every detail. An old friend may also be in touch. Call your prediction line for your financial scope in full...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
Be as objective as possible in all conversations. If you're discussing anything where someone makes a verbal pledge, ask them to confirm it in writing or send an email. Yet you reach a point where you may decide that you need to be more assertive in putting across your point of view. A big romantic fascination is also possible. Call now for your love scope in full...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
Financial matters can be a bit murky. If someone owes you money, there is a chance that they will be illusive, or even dishonest. Be careful of what you say and agree to yourself. Yet your love life can benefit from the role of Venus which closes in on the Sun in your sector relationships. Just don't try too hard if you really like someone. Call for more astral advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Someone can seem mysterious and intriguing. You can find yourself thinking about this person a lot. However, this is probably not the best week to ask them out directly, however a friend may play Cupid. A troubled tie may have run its course, but if you are single, someone from your past, may still be tugging at your heart strings. Call for your love scope in full...

A TALENTED young drama student can consider himself at home among the cast of Oliver! after impressing judges at open auditions for the West End musical.

Jake Poolman (9), who studies musical theatre, dance and drama at Harlow's Phoenix Theatre School, has landed the part of Nipper in the forthcoming national tour of Cameron Mackintosh's hit show.

He battled his way through three gruelling rounds of auditions in central London to land the role, beating hundreds of other young hopefuls on the way.

Jake, who lives in Sawbridgeworth, will join a star-studded cast, including former Men Behaving Badly star Neil Morrissey as pickpocket gang boss Fagin, for the start of rehearsals in October before the musical opens in Cardiff in December this year.

Jake recently third out of 32 acts in the national finals of the Britain Does Variety talent contest and said it was his dream to forge a successful career in showbiz.

"I'm thrilled to be cast as little

By CHELSEA MOORE
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

Nipper and be part of Fagin's gang," he said. "It's going to be such a great experience to be a part of a big production and I am going to learn so much.

"I have already made new friends and can't wait for rehearsals to start and to perform on stage in front of a live theatre audience."

In a curious twist, Jake is the second Phoenix student to play Nipper in the production. William Edden (13) previously landed the role when the show was running at the Drury Lane Theatre in London's West End.

Phoenix principal Phil Dale told the Star he was very proud of his young protégé.

"We're delighted that Jake has earned this opportunity," he said. "He gives full commitment at all his lessons and this has certainly paid off. He really has got a great career ahead of him."

Jake will be on tour with Oliver! for 14 months before it closes in Bristol on March 23, 2013.

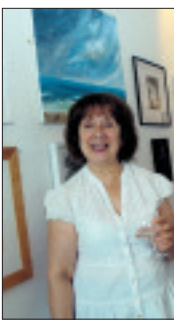

Diversity of work on display at new Gatehouse exhibition

COURTNEY

DENISE STRADLING

A NEW exhibition of mixed media works created by artists living or working in Harlow opened at town centre gallery Gatehouse Arts this week.

Gatehouse Open features photography, sculpture, prints, paintings and digital images submitted by more than 30 local artists, some of whom work from studios above the West Gate gallery itself.

Exhibition co-ordinator Amanda Westbury said: "There are some people for who this will be their first time exhibiting at a gallery, while others whose work is featured have exhibited previously at prestigious London galleries.

"One of our artists, Belinda Davies, has just had an edition of her Made In Essex print on display as part of the exhibition accepted in a printmaking exhibition at the Mall Galleries London.

"We've got a real diverse range of work featured – seascapes, floral, abstract and many more – so there really is something for everyone."

Many of the works are available to buy, with prices ranging from £30 to £500.

Close encounter harks back to a bygone era

SUPER 8
certificate 12A, 1h51m

IN the summer of 1982 an earthbound alien phoned home and audiences wept with joy, cementing Steven Spielberg's reputation as the greatest filmmaker of his generation.

E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial was a cultural phenomenon envisioning the cruel world through the eyes of a young boy as he risked everything to protect his visiting friend from scientists and shadowy government agents.

Almost 30 years later, director JJ Abrams pays homage to Spielberg's fantasy with Super 8, a rollicking adventure that depicts the rampage of an alien creature in rural 1970s America from the perspective of six children whose worlds have just been rocked by Star Wars and Star Trek: The Motion Picture.

In a sleepy industrial town in Ohio, teenager Joe Lamb (Joel Courtney) is struggling to come to terms with the death of his mother and the strain it has put on his father, Deputy Sheriff Jackson Lamb (Kyle Chandler).

The youngster invests his time in making a low-budget zombie film with his friends. Director Charles (Riley Griffiths) bosses everyone around and special effects expert Cary (Ryan Lee) provides the fake gore while dim-witted leading man Martin (Gabriel Basso) tries to remember his lines to the chagrin of long-suffering soundman Preston (Zach Mills).

To increase the film's chances of winning first prize in a nationwide competition, Charles persuades classmate Alice (Elle Fanning) to sign up as lead actress and the children head down to the local rail station to shoot a night sequence.

Just as the camera starts rolling, the youngsters witness a truck drive onto the tracks and derail an oncoming freight train. As they make a hasty escape, the trespassing teens are oblivious to the monstrous creature crawling free from the twisted wreckage.

Super 8 is a delightful nostalgia trip, recalling a bygone era when young protagonists embarked on amazing journeys and emerged from the melee with barely a scratch or bruise. You have to suspend your disbelief throughout the film, but as pure unadulterated entertainment there is much to enjoy from the amusing banter between the children to the first clear glimpse of the monster as a reflection in a puddle at a gas station while an unwitting attendant listens to Blondie's Heart Of Glass on his exciting new purchase – a Walkman. The centrepiece train crash is brilliantly realised and even if the creature design is an anticlimax the digitally rendered behemoth is seamlessly integrated with the live action.

Courtney is a spirited hero of the hour and he milks genuine tears as Joe wrestles with the loss of the woman who brought him into the world.

Fanning is equally impressive and there is a lovely rapport between the two young actors and with co-stars Griffiths, Lee, Basso and Mills.

Prepare to step back in time to 1982.

>>still on screen

Captain America: The First Avenger German defector Dr Abraham Erskine (Stanley Tucci) spearheads a secret programme to create the ultimate soldier and chooses asthmatic weakling Steve Rogers (Chris Evans) as the perfect candidate for the treatment. Steve is transformed into a muscle-bound hunk and portrays fictional character Captain America at war rallies, but when good friend James Buchanan (Sebastian Stan) is presumed dead behind enemy lines, Steve parachutes in as Captain America and single-handedly take on the Germans.

Zookeeper Griffin Keyes (Kevin James) is head keeper at Franklin Park Zoo, treating all of the animals with compassion and earning the respect of co-workers Kate (Rosario Dawson) and Venom (Ken Jeong). When former sweetheart Stephanie (Leslie Bibb) walks back into his life and throws him into an emotional whirl, the zoo animals led by Joe the lion (voiced by Sylvester Stallone) and Janet the lioness (Cher), decide to break their silence to help Griffin win her back.

Horrid Henry Henry (Theo Stevenson) dreams of pop stardom. At school he and his mates, collectively known as The Purple Hand Gang, clash with Moody Margaret (Scarlett Stitt) and her crew. A series of pranks in front of two school inspectors threatens the future of Ashdown Primary School so Henry faces the prospect of attending the local private school run by Vic Van Winkle (Richard E Grant) who will not tolerate his rebellious behaviour. So Henry and his chums must win the upcoming talent contest and draw attention to their school's plight.

Cars 2 Race car Lightning McQueen and his pal Mater head overseas to compete in the World Grand Prix race. But the road to the championship becomes rocky as Mater gets caught up in an intriguing adventure of his own: international espionage.

Harry Potter and The Deathly Hallows: Part II Harry, Ron and Hermione search for the remaining Horcruxes in their effort to destroy the Lord Voldemort.

Horrible Bosses Three friends conspire to murder their bosses when they realise they are standing in the way of their happiness.

>>previews

Rise Of The Planet Of The Apes Set in present day San Francisco where man's experiments with genetic engineering lead to the development of intelligence in apes and the onset of a war for supremacy.

Rango Rango (voiced by Jonny Depp) is an ordinary chameleon who accidentally winds up in the town of Dirt, a lawless outpost in the Wild West in desperate need of a new sheriff.

MR POPPER'S PENGUINS
certificate PG, 1h34m

Thomas (Jim Carrey) is a workaholic real estate developer for the money-grabbing trio Franklin (Philip Baker Hall), Reader (Dominic Chianese) and Yates (William C Mitchell).

In order to secure promotion, Thomas must persuade Mrs Van Gundy (Angela Lansbury) to sell the Tavern On The Green restaurant in Central Park. But she rebuffs his pitch, determined to sell the historic property to a person of worth.

While Thomas attempts to close the deal he receives his inheritance from his late father – six Gentoo penguins which take over his life and help him to rebuild bridges with ex-wife Amanda (Carla Gugino) and children Janie (Madeline Carroll) and Billy (Maxwell Perry Cotton).

Four bed in private location

coverproperty

Location Chaseways, Sawbridge-worth

Category Four-bed detached

Additional Conservatory, en suite to master bedroom, garage, south-facing rear garden

Guide price £479,000

Agent Intercountry, 1 Bell Street, Sawbridgeworth. Telephone (01279) 600333

THIS well-appointed, four bedroom detached family home is in Chaseways, a much sought-after private location on the outskirts of Sawbridgeworth.

The front door leads into an inner hallway with tiled floor and coving to the ceiling. There is a door to the dining room which has wooden flooring and stairs to the first floor.

The kitchen has a good selection of units with rolled edge work surfaces. There is an inset double oven with separate four-ring gas hob and stainless steel extractor. The floor is fully tiled and a double glazed window looks on to the back garden.

Leading off the kitchen is a utility room with both eye and base level units and space for a washing machine, tumble dryer and fridge/freezer. Also downstairs is a ground floor shower room with large storage cupboard.

The lounge has a double glazed window to the front and an inset gas fireplace with wooden surround and marble hearth. The room leads through to a lovely conservatory with windows to all aspects and French doors onto the back garden.

The master bedroom benefits from an en-suite bathroom, while bedrooms two and three have built-in wardrobes. Bedroom four is currently used as a dressing room and also has a selection of built-in wardrobes.

The family bathroom has a three piece suite with P-shaped panel enclosed bath and an Aqualisa electric shower.

The back garden features a block paved patio directly at the back of the property. The rest of the garden is mainly laid to lawn with mature shrub borders, a selection of apple trees, side access, outside tap and lighting.

There is a door to the garage which has an up-and-over door and both light and power connected.

To the front of the house is an attractive garden which is laid to lawn and surrounded by mature trees and shrubs, with a block paved driveway providing parking for three vehicles.

Call Intercountry on (01279) 600333 for full details or to arrange a viewing.

what's hot on the market

Tracey Waples Property Editor

GREY skies, traffic jams and huge farm vehicles clogging up the country lanes. Yes, we're well and truly into the British summer and if you've been lucky enough to escape for a break and realised the benefits of a good holiday, maybe your thoughts have turned towards buying a holiday home of your own.

Despite the current economic climate it appears we're still keen on buying holiday property. There are those who buy them exclusively for their own use but many more are snapping up second properties at home and abroad for income generating rental prospects.

Recent estimates show there are more than half a million holiday homes in Britain alone and we own many more overseas. One of the most popular home buying regions is East Anglia, and with Suffolk and Norfolk an easy drive away from our area it's easy to see why 1.2 per cent of properties in that region are second homes.

You only have to take a trip to the Suffolk coast to see how busy the area becomes during the summer months.

Although we have been buying holiday properties for decades, the same old rules still apply if you plan to let your property out.

Location, location, location. Need I say more? And while position is, of course, important, the property has to be kept up to a standard that will attract tenants. The cost of maintenance should be factored in from the beginning and when buying it's a good idea to have a contingency fund for repairs.

Two- and three-bedroom properties are better for families and groups of friends so if you can, go large!

Think about using a letting agent. Management fees can vary but their expertise usually pays for itself... and keep your property fully insured. Better safe than sorry.

MEAD Cote, at Housham Tye, is a stunning equestrian property in a rural location with six-and-a-half acres of land.

This period house has been upgraded throughout and has four bedrooms and two bathrooms, three reception rooms and a bespoke kitchen with Aga.

There is also an outdoor swimming pool and detached outbuilding/studio, four fenced paddocks and a ménage.

The house has two independent entrance drives, ideal for equestrian and personal visitors. Contact Howick & Brooker on (01279) 418888 for full details.

Buy this for £995,000

SITUATED on the outskirts of Henham, this Grade II listed cottage is a spacious property in grounds of one-and-a-half acres. It includes a stunning English Heritage oak framed pool complex and separate annexe.

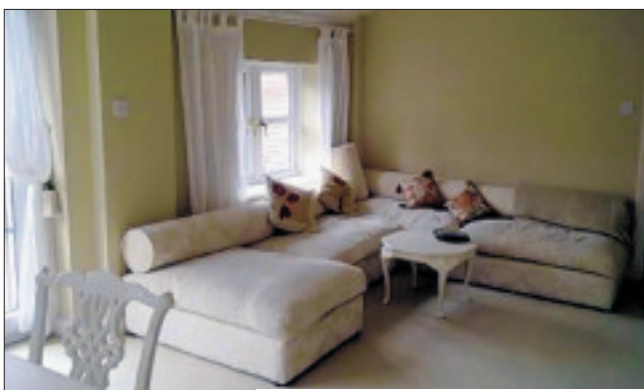

The property has been very well maintained with many original features including heavy timbers and fireplaces.

There are five bedrooms and beautiful grounds with a wealth of mature trees and shrubs. Golfing enthusiasts will love the small putting and chipping area and there is an extensive brick-paved sunken terrace with rustic brick retaining walls and outside lighting and speakers.

Wright & Co have full details of this property. Call (01279) 799106.

Yours for £225,000

THIS charming penthouse apartment in Twyford Mill is a tranquil haven in extensive, well maintained communal grounds along a private stretch of the River Stort.

The apartment occupies the top floor of this converted mill. It has two double bedrooms, a hallway with double storage cupboard, family bathroom, good-size kitchen and a large lounge/diner with double doors to the balcony overlooking the river.

There is also plenty of off-street parking.

To arrange an appointment to view, call Ilanga Property on (01279) 721212.

On the market for £199,950

THIS four-bedroom property in Quarry Springs, Harlow, sits on a corner plot with a large, L-shaped garden.

This type of property rarely comes on to the market and it is just a short drive from Harlow town centre as well as the M11 with easy access to the M25.

There is a sitting room, kitchen/dining room, downstairs cloakroom, study and a first floor bathroom. The house has been fitted with double glazing and gas central heating throughout. Call the Harlow office of Geoffrey Matthews on (01279) 444988 for full details.

Local Property Comment

Alan Howick
01279 401902

It's hot weather & a hot market....

What a crazy market place at the moment!

July was a record month for us with sales agreed in Harlow, Church Langley and Old Harlow. Almost back to the heyday of 2007!

So what is the reason or what is the secret you may ask?

The news of global financial melt down in the USA, and Mr Putin saying the USA is irresponsible with their spending plus the share market being a little brittle, to say the least....suggests otherwise.

But here the market is showing definite signs of a recovery and more confidence in buying a family home.

One of the main reasons for the level of sales is that sellers are being sensible in keeping their asking prices competitive & this encourages buyers to buy!

So if you want to move, maybe now is the right time, providing you keep your asking price keen and attractive but of course, ring us first please!

SHEERING ROAD, OLD HARLOW

WOW! I was quite blown away by the exquisite home. Deceptively large, ideal for two families to live under one roof but totally independently of each other.

PRESTIGE & VILLAGE HOMES

at Geoffrey Matthew Estates

Hart Road, Old Harlow

Hart Road is a popular well established road of individual properties in the heart of Old Harlow. Here we are pleased to offer a large extended three bedroom semi-detached home with lounge, dining room, fitted kitchen, utility, cloakroom, three good size bedrooms, family bathroom and garage. Plenty of parking to the front and a 110ft long rear garden.

£319,995

Millersdale, Harlow

Millersdale is a small cul de sac of detached homes, located in the Kingsmoor area, property is set well back from the road with a good frontage and an 85' long rear garden. The property inside enjoys three/four bedrooms, lounge/diner, modern fitted kitchen, modern cloakroom and family bathroom and an attached garage and work shop. The property is beautifully presented throughout in excellent decorative order and a viewing is recommended.

£329,995

Hare Street, Harlow

A most attractive period four bedroom family house, built in 1893, Hare Street holds many other character properties and local primary school nearby. Inside Rosemont enjoys two large reception rooms, including a dual aspect lounge and dining room, fitted kitchen to the rear, downstairs cloakroom, a master bedroom with en-suite shower room, three further bedrooms, a large family bathroom; the master bedroom and en-suite are a more recent addition to the property. Outside the property is set nicely back from the road, driveway providing ample parking and a mature rear garden.

£339,995

Curteys, Old Harlow

A four bedroom detached family home located in this quiet cul de sac development in Old Harlow. The property itself enjoys a large lounge, fitted kitchen, large study within the front extension, dining room and extended hallway. Four good size bedrooms, a family bathroom, en-suite shower room to the master bedroom. The property has a detached garage & driveway, access via the rear gate and adjacent parking at the front.

Hart Road, Old Harlow

Located in the sought after location of Hart Road, we are very pleased to offer this very well presented charming three bedroom detached property with many features, including separate lounge and dining room with fireplaces, a well presented kitchen and bathroom and a very well presented good size rear garden. Viewing for the property is highly recommended.

£349,995

Tye Green Village, Harlow

The Yardings is a heritage site that is thought to be included in the Domesday Book. It has recently been developed including the main house and outbuildings and we are offering The Stables for sale. This particular dwelling has been refurbished to a very high specification throughout. You approach the property through an electric gated entrance offering the whole development both security and privacy. The property offers three bedrooms with en-suite to Bedroom One, landscaped garden, allocated parking for three cars and is offered with no chain.

£394,995

Thurstans

An executive style 6 bedroom family home, largely extended by the current owners, the property inside enjoys some really modern fittings, as is the general style throughout the property and these include a very large light wood fitted kitchen with separate utility room, large dining room and separate lounge, conservatory to the rear, downstairs cloakroom, ensuite shower to the master bedroom, further shower room and a fitted family bathroom. Outside the property enjoys a double garage, plenty of parking to the front, an attractive rear garden and side patio.

Stylish twist on a family hatch

By Matt Joy

EVEN those of you with a distinctly casual attitude to cars – you buy them and drive them but nothing more – may have heard of the Citroen DS3.

And even if you haven't, you will have seen one.

The baby premium-aspirational hatch took the market and its rivals by surprise in 2009, combining sharp design inside and out, the all-important personalisation options and a sharp driving experience whilst still being a genuinely useful and practical small car.

Now Citroen has released its second car to wear the DS tag, which denotes a design-led approach and something slightly outside of the normal templates. The DS4 is billed as a four-door coupe – something a few other manufacturers have presented – but Citroen have gone a step further and created something of a crossover.

Although it shares some hardware and fundamental structures with the C4 hatchback, the similarity ends there. A quick look at the side profile and there are bold curves everywhere, with a strong arc to the roof and slashes over the rear wheelarches.

With hidden handles on the rear doors there is a coupe feel to it, but it also rides higher than a conventional hatch to give a loftier driving position and the panoramic windscreen brings more light into the cabin and affords a better view out. Unusual it certainly is and whether you find it attractive or not is a personal matter, but whatever your feelings it is unquestionably bold, refreshing and will stand out in traffic. Despite the focus on appearances, the DS4 is a thoroughly practical car. The overall height of the body means plenty of room regardless of whether you sit front or back while the boot is a usefully large 359 litres with a further 26 litres beneath the boot floor.

It's worth mentioning that because of the unusual shape, the rear windows are unable to roll down although in a car with climate control as standard this is unlikely to be an issue. Certain models also come with a vast centre console storage box, which adds up to an impressive amount of space.

Although the cabin is more conventional than the exterior, there are still some smart touches. There are flashes of silver around the air vents and gear lever, there is the option to have customisable sounds and lighting effects and should you choose the full leather trim option the seats have multiple panels that evoke the look of a watch bracelet – unusual but highly appealing in the flesh.

With the blend of practicality and style sorted out, Citroen also claims that the DS4 is sporty as well as comfortable and offers an involved driving experience, and after sampling various versions it is hard not to agree.

The way in which the steering responds to inputs and the suspension keeps the body in check when cornering is impressive. While it will never match the sprightliness of the smaller DS3, for a car of its size and status the DS4 is enjoyable to drive in a variety of conditions.

The larger 19-inch wheel options trade a little ride comfort for the sake of looks, but this is also down to personal preference.

Regardless, the DS4 strikes a balance between comfort and fun that will be just right for most people.

The DS4 can be specified with a good choice of well-proven petrol and diesel engines, with the HDi 160 and 120 versions vying to be the pick of the bunch. However, petrol fans can also choose the excellent THP turbocharged units, with the 200 THP version offering power with impressive economy and emissions.

Back in the diesel though and the flexible nature of the high output version is ideally suited to the DS4's multi-faceted personality. It will cruise with ease and potter through urban traffic quite happily, but should you be fortunate to find yourself on an open road it will punch to 62mph from rest in under 10 seconds.

The headline figures of 55.4mpg and 134g/km of CO₂ should mean it makes financial sense, too.

The mid-range DStyle in 160 HDi form will set you back £22,950 with an impressive specification to go with it. And the semi-crossover approach means it will appeal to a wide audience, even though the design means only those with a taste for modern looks will understand.

'EXPRESS YOUR SPIRIT BEHIND THE WHEEL' WITH GATES MAZDA

Gates Mazda are offering customers in Bishop's Stortford the chance to 'Express Your Spirit Behind the Wheel' from 6-15 August as part of Mazda's national test drive week.

"Throughout this special test drive week, we can offer customers the chance to experience our stylish Mazda models first hand as well as providing the opportunity to win some exclusive experiences" comments Ben Lucas, Sales Manager, Gates Mazda.

Customers will automatically be entered into a prize draw* to win one of two invigorating driving experiences, ideal for the adrenaline junky or food connoisseur. The winners will either express their spirit with a VIP 'Adrenaline Track Experience', by driving the sporty Mazda3 MPS and the iconic MX-5 around one of Britain's top race tracks, or enjoy a 'Gourmet Drive Experience', comprising an extended test drive of the MX-5 roadster and a gourmet lunch at a leading British restaurant. Each of the prizes includes an overnight stay at a luxury hotel.

What's more, for new car orders placed during Mazda's national test drive week and registered before the 31 August (excluding the Mazda CX-7), Gates Mazda is offering a free first service (at 12,500 miles), saving up to £154.

To register for a test drive between the 6 and 15 August, simply call Gates Mazda on 08430 226501, visit the showroom on Stansted Road, Bishop's Stortford, or go to www.gates.co.uk.

*Terms and Conditions apply. Visit gates.co.uk for full details.

Certificate of Destruction
DVLA REGISTERED

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Coach Drivers - Stansted Want to join the best in the business?

You've come to the right place. At National Express, we're proud to deliver value for money and a great experience, based on customer service, safety, comfort and reliability.

As one of our Coach Drivers either working within Stansted Airport on our car park shuttle services, or at our Start Hill depot working on long haul routes, you'll make sure we remain the number one choice by offering the very best customer service at every point. It means taking customers to their destinations, selling tickets, loading and unloading luggage and keeping the coach clean and presentable, and all this to be done in both a safe and professional manner.

You'll need a valid PCV licence, bus or coach driving experience and a background that includes proven great customer service. It's also important that you're great with people - helpful, friendly and comfortable dealing with customers, colleagues and members of the public.

In return, you'll get a generous salary between £8.80 per hour and £10.88 per hour depending on location plus pension and additional benefits.

For more information and to apply, visit with internal and external auditors and compliance bodies.

By registering customer feedback in our business system, you'll ensure visibility to relevant stakeholders. You'll need to be an excellent communicator, in writing and orally, with good IT skills and at least three years experience in a commercial environment where the customer was king and quality was never compromised. Your attention to detail is a must. Knowledge of ISO 9001 would be an advantage.

Articles for Sale

Turn your unwanted items into cash!

easy ads In-paper and online

For items under £250 in the Herts & Lea Valley Star, Harlow Star, Mercury Series and the Observer Series

To advertise your articles for sale for the price of just a phone call or text, just follow these two simple steps...

1 Before calling us, write down all that you want your advertisement to say. There is a minimum of 12 words per advert, but you can have as many classified adverts as you need. Remember, strictly one item per phone call and the item must be priced at £250 or less. Any items received that do not carry a price will not be published.

2 Now call us on 0905 624 2025 LINES OPEN 24 HOURS PER DAY SEVEN DAYS PER WEEK. This service lasts approximately two minutes, plus the length of your message. Calls charged at £1.02 per minute plus network extras; calls from mobile will cost considerably more. Service provided J-Media (UK) Ltd.

or text 87070

Start your text with HEN then your advert to a maximum of 20 words. You do not need to add your phone number unless it is different to the mobile used to text the advert.

Example: HEN (space) G. Plan two piece suite, two seater sofa and armchair, super condition £99. Charged at £1.50 per text plus normal network charges. Only one item per text.

If you have any queries relating to advertisements placed via this service please call our helpline...

Helpline: 0844 8001188

OPENING HOURS: 9AM - 5PM

Please allow for a possible two/three week delay. This offer is restricted to private articles for sale and does not include articles wanted, pets, cars, motor spares, boats, motorcycles, caravans, property and investments, imitation or unlicensed firearms, offensive weapons and cannot be cancelled or amended. Advertisements will be deleted where callers name, address and telephone number have not been provided.

For articles over £250 you can also place an advert at our office or simply call 01992 526666 or email advertising@hertssexnews.co.uk

Rugby world mourns death of club's president

GENEROUS tributes have been paid to Harlow Rugby Club president Chris Locke, who died on Sunday.

Mr Locke, of Rosemount, passed away at Princess Alexandra Hospital. He was 68.

Harlow RC press officer and fixture secretary Dave Sharp said: "Chris' contribution to the club has been massive. He never accepted that the role he had in the club had boundaries.

"He performed all his duties with real commitment but perhaps most of all he had a great talent for persuading others to get involved as well. Without him many of the things we enjoy at the club would not have happened."

First team player and former club captain Paul Eynon said: "People like Chris do not walk through the door very often and we are all privileged to have met him and to have worked with or for him.

"He leaves a hole in the world now that he has passed on that we will forever try to fill."

Mr Locke came to Harlow to take up a teaching post at Burnt Mill School in the 1960s, teaching there for a number of years and specialising in rural science.

He is remembered with great affection by many pupils, particularly those in his care as head of Shepherd House.

Former pupil and ex-Harlow MP Bill Rammell said: "I first met Chris when he taught me at Burnt Mill. He was an inspirational teacher and I looked up to him."

Mr Locke had two subsequent jobs, including one as headteacher of Ashton Middle School in Dunstable.

He was youth chairman at Harlow Rugby Club for many years. This section has been important in providing a regular flow of talented players moving up to the senior section.

In 1998 he became club chairman before he took over as president in 2007. It was a role he carried out superbly and his service to the sport was rewarded with a Rugby Football Union Presidents Award.

He also ran a youth club with his wife, Jill, in Nazeing for many years.

Mr Locke is survived by his wife, two sons – David and Jonathan – and four grandchildren.

The funeral will take place at St Mary's Church, Great Parndon, next Friday (August 12) at 2pm, followed by a wake at the clubhouse.

Khawaja hat-trick ends visitors' Hope

Stanford le Hope 129, Harlow 130-5 (Harlow won by five wickets) Shepherd Neame Essex League div two

ON the same day Stuart Broad was performing his hat-trick heroics for England against India, Ahmed Khawaja got one for Harlow in their five-wicket home win over Stanford le Hope.

After winning the toss, the visitors batted first on Saturday and it was towards the end of their innings that Harlow's spinner took a hat-trick.

This included trapping Matthew Page and Michael Gray (lbw for ducks) before the third batsman, Gregg Barr, was bowled for 0.

Khawaja finished on figures of 4-9 from four overs as Stanford were bowled out for just 129.

The visitors' innings was only sustained by a magnificent 77 not out from number three Christo Otto. His knock included 10 fours and a six.

Ross Poulton (22) was the only other of the visitors' batsmen to make double figures.

Matt Nobes (2-25) and former Essex quick bowler Andrew McGarry (2-22) were Harlow's other main wicket takers.

In reply, Brian Kulesna fell for 8 to leave Harlow on 13-1.

However, Haris Afridi joined Rehman Ahmed and the pair added 64 before the latter was bowled by Gary Sanderson for 16.

Although Andre Riddell fell for a duck, Afridi went on to make 57 and Khawaja chipped in with 25.

It was left to keeper Nino Calvino (9 not out) and McGarry (7 not out) to steer Harlow to victory.

Harlow captain Luke Heskett said: "Ahmed Khawaja's hat-trick was well-timed. Their Australian [Christo Otto] batted very well but this hat-trick left him stranded. Ahmed bowled well.

"Haris [Afridi] batted very well. Our run chase was composed and we just have to keep going. Two more wins should clinch promotion."

Harlow are second in the league, three points behind leaders Southend on Sea and 36 points ahead of third placed Leigh on Sea.

Town keep the pressure on leaders

South Loughton 142, Harlow Town 143-2 (Harlow Town won by eight wickets) Herts and Essex Cricket League div one SHIRAZ Ali made his first half century of the season as Harlow Town recorded a comprehensive home win over South Loughton on Saturday.

Ali led the way with 55 not out as the hosts took just 23 overs to overhaul Loughton's total of 142.

Ramya Upadhyay hit 39 and Scott Alderson finished with 17 not out in Town's innings.

Earlier, Town won the toss and put in Loughton on a good wicket on a sunny day.

Although the visitors started well and reached 87-1 with Mark Stokes hitting 55, it was the Town spinners that exerted a stranglehold and turned the game the hosts' way.

Simon Rowell took 5-30 and Upadhyay claimed 3 for 11 as regular wickets fell. Dan Calver claimed the final wicket and also took three catches.

Town remain in second place in division one and are 13 points behind leaders Theydon Bois with four games left.

In division two, Ashley Norcott took two wickets for Harlow Town II (196-9) when they lost by five wickets against Rickling Ramblers (201-5).

Harlow Town III (135) were beaten by 119 runs against division five league leaders Molehill Green (254-7).

Veterans John Pendleton, George Irving and Stuart Alderson all made half centuries as Harlow Town IV (239-6) beat Ware III (201) by 38 runs.

President's XI snatch victory in annual match

THERE was plenty of healthy rivalry as old players returned to play for the President's XI against Harlow Cricket Club.

The game is an annual fixture and the team of president Alan Howick included former club captain James Butler.

The President's XI also included former Harlow player Lee Jessey who made the top score of 38 in his side's total of 216-7 in 45 overs.

He was dismissed by U17 off-spinner Jack Davies, who also accounted for former Harlow skipper James Butler (8).

Davies took 3-23 while Nicky Baxter bowled economically, taking 1-16 from five overs.

In reply, Harlow's top order struggled with only Rehman Ahmed (26) making above 20 and it looked as they would lose heavily.

However, Nicky Baxter (55 not out) and Davies (40 not out) put on an unbeaten 80 for the eighth wicket and almost turned the tables but the president's team took the honours.

Mr Howick said: "It was a very good day. There were lots of families that supported it and it was enjoyable."

Prior to the game, Harlow U10's had a game between themselves while the U11 and U-13 teams also had a match.

>>archery James Huckle will be aiming to gain an Olympic place when he competes in the 50m European Championships this weekend.

The 20-year-old from Old Harlow is flying out to Belgrade today (Thursday) and will be in action in the 50m 3 position men's competition on Sunday.

It is the last competition this year in which he can gain a quota place. He just missed one at Changwon in Korea in April.

Huckle goes to Belgrade in good form after winning a 50m competition at the Scottish International Shooting Sports Federation Championships late last month.

He won with 1146 points, finishing ahead of his Commonwealth Games 2010 English teammate Ken Parr (143).

>>running Kent AC runner James Conner won the Harlow 10-mile road race on Sunday in a time of 51mins 52secs. The first home finisher was Jared Bethell in 60mins 31secs, placing his fifth overall.

Full report in next week's Star.

● Rob Lowe was the fastest Harlow Running Club member at the Stevenage Relays (3K course).

The event, at Fairlands Valley Lake, saw Lowe clock 10m 14s to finish in 53rd of the 440 who completed the course.

The other Harlow competitors were Jamie Jephcott (97th, 10m 53s), John Tennant (177th, 11m 57s), Martin McColgan (207th, 12m 38s) and Colin Moody (253rd, 13m 58s).

Harlow finished 36th out of 57 teand 12th veteran team out of 21.

>>rugby A skills camp run by Aviva Premiership champions Saracens is being hosted by Harlow Rugby Club on August 15-16.

The event is structured and gives all participants a chance to demonstrate their existing skills and learn a host of new ones.

Subject to pre-season training commitments, members of the championship winning squad will be on hand to pass on tips and advice.

Osagie has his eye on the world

ANDREW Osagie celebrated a fantastic victory in the 800m at the Aviva UK Trials and Championships.

The 23-year-old Harlow Athletic Club runner has now all but booked his place at the World Championships in Daegu, South Korea, later this month.

Osagie arrived in Birmingham on the back of a personal best of 1:45.63 set at a BMC Nike Grand Prix event.

The athlete, who lives in Northbrooks, Harlow, stormed to

By DAVID RIMMER
rimmerd@hertssexnews.co.uk victory in the Alexander Stadium on Sunday, claiming the scalp of defending British champion Michael Rimmer (1:47.64) in the process and crossing the line in 1:46.84.

Osagie still does not have the qualification 'A' standard for the World Championships – the personal best (1:45.63) that he set in at the BMC Nike Grand Prix is just 0.23s short.

But he still has the chance to duck under the necessary mark at the forthcoming London Grand Prix in Crystal Palace this weekend.

Osagie had finished fourth at the European Indoor Championships in Paris in March after agonisingly missing out on the finals at the Commonwealth Games and the European Championships last year.

After his victory on Sunday he was grinning from ear to ear as he climbed onto the winner's podium to collect his gold medal.

"The key was to not let Michael Rimmer win again," he said.

"I've missed so many national championships because of injury that it's great to finally be able to come to one and to come here and beat people like Michael Rimmer like that will fill me with confidence for the next race.

"I don't really know where it's come from. I've been training really hard in the gym and ran as hard as I can and I've come straight back in to form.

"It feels good to be in this shape and to win in the way I did is great."

He added: "It's been a long time coming since I've even run in a championships and to win it is just amazing.

"I ran an outdoor personal best a few weeks ago with a 1:45 and I secured it there with a 1:46. I need to go to Crystal Palace and run a little bit quicker and hopefully get into the world's team for Daegu.

"If I head to Daegu I just want to compete well. Every time I put on the GB vest or even the Harlow vest I just want to represent the club or team that I run for as well as I can."

Hawks give a trial to Derby County academy youngster

Harlow Town 0, AFC Hornchurch 2 (pre-season friendly)

THE Hawks could sign Championship side Derby County academy player Cormack Hegarty.

The 18-year-old left wing back is having a trial with Harlow Town after Hawks co-owner Tom Cunningham was alerted to his availability through Hegarty's agent.

Hegarty was set to play in last night's friendly against Chelmsford City.

Cunningham said: "He trained at Arsenal and then went to Derby. I know him quite well from when he was at Arsenal and he was unfortunate not to be taken on there.

"His technique is very good. He has a good attitude and a number of clubs are interested in him."

On Saturday the Hawks were given a tough test when they faced Ryman League premier division outfit AFC Hornchurch at home.

The Hawks found Hornchurch difficult to break down and did not create any clear-cut openings.

Hornchurch went ahead on 53 minutes when Lewis Smith fired in a free-kick.

The lead was doubled on 87 minutes when a ball over the top exposed Harlow Town's defence and Aaron Gayle shot home for the visitors.

Cunningham said: "We competed well in the first half and were more than a match for them. But for all the possession we had we did not create much.

"In the second half we made one or two mistakes."

Harlow will host Blue Square Bet South club Thurrock this Saturday before they take on Evo-Stick Southern League side Barton Rovers at home in another friendly on Tuesday.

Cunningham said: "I have been encouraged by what I have seen so far.

"I am impressed with the quality of players we have. Danny will be getting his hard core of players up to 90 minutes (to play a full game)."

HARLOW TOWN (squad): Rafis, Luminous, Haverson, Kirby, Lalite, Brown, Ferguson, Docker, Roache, Bunn, Marshall, Peagram, Gledhill Mitchell, Barnard, Taylor, Henry, Peagram, Harris.
